

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Aquariums aren't all that bad

Rob Lang · Wednesday, April 5th, 2017

It might seem like aquariums are cruel, keeping rightfully-grumpy animals in captivity.

Sure he's a volunteer, but this docent needs to change up his material.

But many aquariums do a lot of good stuff. They rehabilitate injured or sick animals, do tons of valuable research, like at the Monterey Bay Aquarium.

Most importantly, they hope to inspire a love of nature in young people.

And they laughed at Kurt for rubbing clownfish slime all over himself. Well who's laughing now?

They also inspire some daring and crazy escapes.

After many days of calculations, the mimic octopus seized its opportunity and made an incredible escape.

[alert type=alert-white]Please consider making a tax-deductible donation now so we can keep publishing strong creative voices.[/alert]

This entry was posted on Wednesday, April 5th, 2017 at 8:43 pm and is filed under Comics. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.