Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Arthur C Clarke Predicted the PC and the Internet 40 Years Ago

Adam · Thursday, June 21st, 2012

More proof that creative minds foresee – and shape – our world in ways at least as powerful as politicians, business leaders and social movements. In 1974 Arthur C Clarke, writer of 2001: A Space Odyssey, told the ABC that every household in 2001 will have a computer and be connected all over the world. (Courtesy of Australian Broadcasting Corporation.)

This entry was posted on Thursday, June 21st, 2012 at 3:32 am and is filed under Film, Technology
You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments (RSS) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.