

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Best and Worst: Jeff Koons

Edward Goldman · Wednesday, May 11th, 2011

My last program with a reference to the art of super-famous Jeff Koons as “Shiny, Bubbly and Boring...” hit a nerve with listeners. I got quite a lot of responses to this program and you might want to read them on KCRW’s website. Here are a few of my favorites:

Esther wrote:

I may not have the money of Eli Broad or Taschen, but, to me, Koons’ work is dreck [Yiddish for bad smelly stuff].....and your column is not.

This next comment was submitted by Kathy:

Really good column. When I was reviewing art in the 1980s, Koons was considered a joke. (Still is as far as I’m concerned.)

David exclaimed:

OMG! That is the ugliest piece of art I’ve ever seen! Thanks for calling a spade a spade.

More...

Re-posted with permission.

This entry was posted on Wednesday, May 11th, 2011 at 6:10 am and is filed under Visual Art. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.