Best Delta-8 THC Products You Must Try

Our Friends · Wednesday, October 6th, 2021

So you're thinking about trying delta 8. To be clear, you should definitely expect to feel some effects as far as getting high. However, in most instances the effects are not nearly as strong as "traditional" delta 9 THC – i.e. the type that is found in recreational and medical marijuana products.

Delta 8 offers more of a calm, controlled, subtle high. Many claim that it is roughly half the potency of a regular marijuana high. Of course, in order to experience an authentic delta 8 high, you have to use high quality, well-made products from reliable manufacturers.

In this article, we've put together a list of a handful of reputable companies that offer delta 8 products. Whether you're looking for the best delta 8 gummies available or a quality delta 8 tincture, we'll point out some expertly-crafted products that deliver a true, authentic delta 8 experience.

Top Products For An Authentic Delta 8 Experience

Another thing to consider in order to get the most out of your delta 8 experience is to choose the right product type. Similar to CBD, delta 8 products are available in a variety of forms, including gummies, oils, edibles and more. High-potency delta 8 edibles typically take longer to kick in than other forms, so this is definitely something to keep in mind before you try your first delta 8 product.

Without further ado, here are our selections for what we feel are the best, most authentic delta 8 products currently available. These products are available in most states, and can easily be ordered online with no need for a medical cannabis card.

Premium Jane

This company has been around for years, and has become one of the most reputable and well-established labels in the CBD industry. They have recently branched into the delta 8 market, and offer what we believe is the market's best delta 8 tincture.

In addition to a potent amount of delta 8 in each serving, the oil tincture also contains CBG – meaning you're getting a variety of health benefits (including stress and anxiety reduction) along with the recognizable effects of the delta 8.

PureKana

Another brand that has been around forever in the CBD industry, PureKana are by far our favorite manufacturers if you're into delta 8 gummies. Be forewarned though – these gummies can be pretty potent. We recommend starting out with just a half of one until you feel the potency of the effects.

If you're looking for an incredibly calm, relaxing, manageable delta 8 high, PureKana's line of D8 gummies is what you want to go with.

Finest Labs

Last but not least, Finest Labs offers a range of delta 8 vape products that bring good value for the money – if vaping is your consumption method of choice. The products are available in a variety of flavors, which is a nice boost for any vape connoisseurs.

These products aren't as potent as the Premium Jane or PureKana selections, however, so if noticeable effects are the biggest thing you're after, you'll probably want to go with one of those brands instead.
