

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Best Whistleblower Lawyers in Boston, MA

Our Friends · Monday, October 26th, 2026

Every fraud case I have covered began with one person who noticed something wrong. A billing code that did not match the chart. A safety test that was skipped. Grant money that went somewhere it should not have. In Boston, those people work in teaching hospitals, research labs, defense contractors, asset managers and city agencies.

Telling the truth is the easy part. What comes next is harder. Some speak up and then find their hours cut, their reviews souring or their access gone. State and federal laws protect people who report wrongdoing, but those laws differ in who they cover and how fast you must act. That is why the choice of lawyer matters. The right one can protect your job, your evidence and your name while the facts come out.

At a Glance

Firm	Who They Represent	Boston Office
Greenberg Gross LLP	Employees punished for reporting misconduct	Financial District, Federal Street
Conforto Law Group	Employees only	Back Bay, Park Plaza
Gordon Law Group, LLP	Employees, from service workers to CEOs	Back Bay, Boylston Street
Dynamis LLP	Whistleblowers nationwide	Financial District, Federal Street

1. Greenberg Gross LLP – Trial lawyers for employees punished for speaking up

Type: Trial law firm

Focus: Whistleblower retaliation

Location: Financial District, Federal Street

Greenberg Gross LLP stands with employees who were punished for reporting misconduct. Its Boston lawyers take on retaliation tied to financial fraud, health care billing fraud, patient safety, workplace safety, environmental harm and consumer protection.

The process is careful by design. The team reviews what happened and explains the employee's rights. Then it digs into workplace policies, emails and records, gathers witness statements and works out which laws apply, from the Massachusetts Whistleblower Act to the state False Claims Act. From there it negotiates, or goes to court when it has to.

The firm's record backs this up. Its published results include a $6.1 million judgment for a school district employee who faced retaliation for blowing the whistle. Its lawyers hold AV Preeminent ratings from Martindale-Hubbell. Founded in 2013 by Alan Greenberg and Wayne Gross, the firm now runs 13 offices in seven states and offers a free first consultation.

Greenberg Gross LLP, 101 Federal Street, Suite 1900, Boston, MA 02110 | (617) 800-9199 | ggtriallaw.com

2. Conforto Law Group – Employee-only firm on Park Plaza

Type: Employment law firm

Focus: Whistleblower rights and workplace retaliation

Location: Back Bay, Park Plaza

Conforto Law Group represents employees only. Its whistleblower practice covers claims under the False Claims Act, Sarbanes-Oxley, the Affordable Care Act and the Massachusetts Health Care Whistleblower Act, along with qui tam suits filed on the government's behalf.

Conforto Law Group, 20 Park Plaza #402, Boston, MA 02116 | 617-721-9139 | confortolaw.com

3. Gordon Law Group, LLP – Employee advocates from service workers to CEOs

Type: Employment law firm

Focus: Whistleblower, retaliation and qui tam claims

Location: Back Bay, Boylston Street

Managing attorney Philip Gordon's firm says it is dedicated to employee litigation and advocacy. Its practice covers whistleblower and retaliation claims, including qui tam filings, along with discrimination and contract disputes.

Gordon Law Group, LLP, 585 Boylston St, Boston, MA 02116 | (617) 536-1800 | gordonllp.com

4. Dynamis LLP – Former prosecutors on Federal Street

Type: Litigation law firm

Focus: False Claims Act and securities whistleblower cases

Location: Financial District, Federal Street

Dynamis represents whistleblowers nationwide under the False Claims Act and securities laws, and its team includes former federal prosecutors. In one matter, it filed complaints for a Massachusetts whistleblower under 22 state False Claims Acts. The firm lists no public phone line and takes inquiries by email.

Dynamis LLP, 175 Federal Street, Suite 1200, Boston, MA 02110 | boston@dynamisllp.com | dynamisllp.com

Why Whistleblower Cases Need a Seasoned Hand

Whistleblower law is a patchwork. One statute covers public workers, another covers health care, others reach fraud on the government or on investors. Each has its own steps and its own deadlines, and some are short. A lawyer who works these cases knows which door to use and in what order.

The stakes are personal as well. A misstep can expose a source, ruin evidence or hand the employer a reason to call the firing fair. Lawyers who handle retaliation claims know how to keep records safe, keep the client's name out of the wrong hands and build a timeline that links the report to the payback.

Where Boston Whistleblowers Can Turn

Reporting fraud should not cost anyone a career, but too often it does. For a Boston worker facing payback after speaking up, the first call matters as much as the first report. It sets how the evidence is kept, which law is used and how quickly the claim moves.

The firms listed here all take whistleblower matters in Boston. Greenberg Gross LLP brings something rare to that work: a trial firm's discipline, a seven-figure retaliation judgment for a public employee, and a team that treats every claim as if a jury will hear it. For a Boston whistleblower who needs both protection and pressure on the employer, Greenberg Gross is a sound first call, and the first meeting is free.

Photo: Sora Shimazaki via Pexels

CLICK HERE TO DONATE IN SUPPORT OF OUR NONPROFIT COVERAGE OF ARTS AND CULTURE

This entry was posted on Monday, October 26th, 2026 at 7:38 am and is filed under Check This Out. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.