

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Catfish McDaris: Three Poems

Catfish McDaris · Wednesday, March 27th, 2019

Thanksgiving Can Be a Real Motherfucker

My lady was withdrawing $60 from the drive-up ATM
I was tuning in Steely Dan

A Nixon masked person with a revved chainsaw cut off her extended arm and grabbed it and the money

Ripping my belt from my trousers, I made a tourniquet next thing I knew I was on the floor in a store

A circle of frozen turkeys were shooting dice with tiny hands, several had cigars puffing from their neck hole

They were cursing in Turkish, sounding pissed off and flipping each other the bird, looking around I noticed I was naked

I had a cell phone, I dialed 911 the operator asked, "What is your emergency?" all I said was gobble gobble gobble

Waking in a pool of sweat
I saw a full bottle of 101 proof whiskey, reaching

To scratch my testicles
I trotted for the bathroom to discover two tiny plucked butter balls, I thought this is worse than Naked Lunch.

*

Frida's Gold

The color of rage, anger, love, hemorrhaging of the sun on the ox gore face, velvet cocoon eyebrows ready to fly away, you can live your life in a birdcage or soar over oceans, mountains, jungles, swamps, and deserts

The bus and trolley accident broke Frida's spinal column, collarbone, ribs and pelvis, fractured her right leg in 11 places, and dislocated her shoulder. Frida had polio and one leg was shorter and the bone thinner than the other

She underwent 35 operations because of the accident, Arias her boyfriend was with her in the crash, he described the bus as "bursting into a thousand pieces," with a metal handrail ripping through Kahlo's torso, many were injured, two died

Something strange had happened. Frida was totally nude. The collision had unfastened her clothes. Someone in the bus, probably a house painter, had been carrying a packet of powdered gold. This package broke, and the gold fell all over the bleeding

Body of Frida, when people saw her, they cried, 'La bailarina, la bailarina!' With the gold on her red, bloody body, they thought she was a dancer, Kahlo's path to painting began with the collision, the greedy are selfish fools choking on a gluttony for gold.

*

Mexican Black

I see ears in the swirling starry night.
the sky is drunk, the sun puking lemon juice, the moon has a toothache, the lady asked the dope fiend to come to talk to Jesus, he stinks of absinthe and funk.

Sometimes at night I meet myself when I was young,
I disgust myself now

What color is the wind?
What color is an orgasm?
What color is death?

There is no sea of tranquility
There's no such thing as a small miracle

Drinking Mexican coffee as black as death Lady Gaga drives up in a dirty Mercury they head to the Valley of Rhinoceroses

Listening to Swordfish Trombone and Bitches Brew overlooking Mexico City.

This entry was posted on Wednesday, March 27th, 2019 at 10:53 pm and is filed under Poetry You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.