Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Feathered Fashion

Rob Lang · Wednesday, September 13th, 2017

With the start of the new school year, young humans usually are very concerned with their appearance. This reminds me of how concerned animals like birds are with the way they look, as well. Many birds constantly preen their feathers to look their best. I'm not exactly sure that shoebills care about how they present themselves, but this individual has a flare for flashing a particular brand.

And I wonder what these spoonbills would do if their young one ever had to go to school…

This entry was posted on Wednesday, September 13th, 2017 at 2:45 pm and is filed under Comics
You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments (RSS) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.