Talking about the project itself, it involves such stars as John Simm, Sheila Atim, Georgie Henley, Alex Sharp, Josh Whitehouse, and others. The plot takes us to the preceding events in the previous eight seasons. Even though the action will be transferred for thousands of years into the past, fans will be able to recognize the Starks, the descendants of the first people who settled down in the north of Westeros.

As for the Lannisters, by the time of the events of the 'Long Night' their family had not yet managed to form. The Lannister clan's nest, which is Casterly's cliff, is included in the prequel geography. Though it will be inhabited by the dynasty by whose name it is called. Yet, it is not known whether the spin-off will affect this story.

The fans can already start expecting their favorite TV-show to reveal the other secrets and mysteriousness of the Westeros past.
