

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Holiday Tips from Nature

Rob Lang · Tuesday, December 13th, 2016

Now that the holidays are in full swing, check out this short list of do's and don'ts that will help brighten what can be an awful season for some people.

First and foremost, don't compare your family to other families. You never know what's going on behind the scenes.

Attachment parenting isn't for all species.

Try to be patient with everyone, especially older folks who like to reminisce about yesteryear.

Grumpy old sea turtle.

[alert type=alert-white]Please consider making a tax-deductible donation now so we can keep publishing strong creative voices.[/alert]

You're also probably going to run into people you don't want to see. Try not to be rude (back away slowly).

It's hard for EVERYBODY to get along with everybody else in EVERY tide pool. Those are some close quarters. (Especially when there's an extra chatty sculpin) Don't you think?

It's difficult, but try not to spend all your time on the phone.

The crows know what's in charge.

If all else fails, there's always therapy.

Hypnotherapy for scuba divers.

Stay safe and sane!

This entry was posted on Tuesday, December 13th, 2016 at 7:00 pm and is filed under Comics. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.