

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Landfill Harmonic Tunes Up

Adam · Thursday, April 4th, 2013

 Landfill Harmonic, a documentary feature currently in production, reveals a mind-boggling, inventive effort give children hope – with musical instruments made from trash. In the barrios of Paraguay, a humble garbage picker uses his ingenuity to craft instruments out of recycled materials, and a youth orchestra is born. Music arises and children find new dreams.

The filmmakers have launched a Kickstarter campaign to complete filming; if the campaign goes over its goal, they'll be able to spread the project's message broadly. At minimum, they need to raise $175,000 by May 15, 2013.

Take a peak at the some scenes in the video below, then go to their Kickstarter page and help fulfill Landfill Harmonic's goals.

This entry was posted on Thursday, April 4th, 2013 at 3:49 am and is filed under Film, Music. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.