

---

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Mendes Biondo: Two Poems

Mendes Biondo · Wednesday, August 26th, 2020

Dining with Carmen Calavera

the last ones
the lost ones those who have nothing more to save just a last word of love to give I fell in love with them all carmen calavera
mrs. death told me once they kissed me with such strength they danced with me till the end I can't forget those eyes she smiled to me

I felt sick
I told her I wanted to spank her ass on my last moment no feelings
no commitment just me spanking mrs. death's ass you are the funny one she said

I have no mercy with those like you but you make me feel the blood running into veins you make me feel alive and it's strange considering who I am

I cheered after dinner I followed her steps till she reached her black Cadillac soon my boy

I smiled
she smiled

---

another day on this shitty place

*

The Rope Is Just A Pendulum

gringo was waiting for the sun it was twilight out of his room johnny cash was singing his blues a piece about a man in Reno who killed a brother made of meat gringo was a free man but he had bars at the windows people said him they are necessary for prevent robbers killers

the rape of life

gringo was a free man but he had cameras watching people moving here and there from his flat they said it's to be sure nothing bad would happen his neighbors has statues of mussolini and hitler in their houses they go round and round to control and prevent with military suits and a torch in their hands gringo was a free man but he understood folsom prison dudes crying and screaming when johnny sung 25 minutes to go

This entry was posted on Wednesday, August 26th, 2020 at 2:44 pm and is filed under Poetry You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.