Our Big Plans Need Your Huge Help

Cultural Daily · Thursday, December 21st, 2023

Our hope at Cultural Daily is that you know how much your support and readership has meant to us, and especially each person we have published. And how much more a new donation—a one time or a monthly commitment—will mean to the voices yet to be heard.

As we wrap up our 12th year at Cultural Daily, there are so many things that we can look back on with pride and an incredible sense of accomplishment. But we look to the future with an even greater sense of excitement.

It is, in fact, the most ambitious time in our long history.

We have been able to publish thousands of essays, reviews, criticisms, poetry, and photography, covering the full gamut of cultural topics such as theatre, dance, film, literature, domestic and international politics, community issues, and so much more.

Perhaps more than anything, Cultural Daily is proud to have published hundreds of student writers—from grade school teenagers and graduate students around the country to children in Lagos, Nigeria. In the coming months and, hopefully years, Cultural Daily is determined to refine its focus to provide an important space for student voices that will have a huge collective impact on their futures.

But to proceed with our visionary plans, Cultural Daily needs the continuing support of our readers and stakeholders. As is often the case when pushing to make a greater impact, it is also the most precarious time for Cultural Daily, given our current thin finances.

In these final days of a tumultuous 2023, please consider making a tax-deductible donation to Next Echo Foundation, publisher of Cultural Daily, which will assist us in realizing these amazing ideas that we have been brewing.
