

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Red Chairs of Sarajevo

Cultural Daily · Thursday, April 12th, 2012

This past weekend, to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the siege of Sarajevo, the city became an art installation, as simple as it was moving. Red Line Sarajevo, as the installation was called, placed 11,541 red chairs in the main street of Bosnia's capital, one for each victim of the violence.

Filmmaker Ado Hasanovic captured the day in this short, well-made film.

You can also watch it in higher quality at Vimeo here.

This entry was posted on Thursday, April 12th, 2012 at 4:28 am and is filed under Film, Visual Art. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.