Roulette Variants in the Casino NZ: European vs. American vs. French Rules

Our Friends · Friday, September 26th, 2025

Roulette remains one of the most iconic and widespread casino games. This can be explained by its simplicity, visual appeal and elegance. In addition, best online casino NZ sites provide a large selection of different types of roulette in accordance with the individual preferences of each. European, American, French roulette attract the attention of fans. Each of the game options has its own characteristics, but is no less attractive and interesting.

European Roulette – The Classic Standard

European roulette is a recognized classic that enjoys great popularity and recognition. The game wheel has 37 cells, numbered from 0 to 36. The presence of one zero gives the casino an advantage of 2.7%. This version of the gameplay is especially profitable and popular among beginner players due to the wide possibilities of winning.

European roulette is often chosen on casino NZ sites due to the balanced risk and clear rules. Players just need to choose a suitable bet option and place a bet. Then all that remains is to wait for the results of the spin and enjoy the entire gameplay.

American Roulette – The Riskier Option

American roulette has higher risks. For example, there is a double zero field. It increases the risks and increases the casino advantage to 5.26%. This option is considered less favorable for players, as it potentially leads to a loss.

Among the key features of this version of the popular casino NZ game, you should pay attention to the following:

- There is a cell with double zero.
- A higher casino advantage reduces the likelihood of winning participants, and also increases the risks of bets.
- The betting structure is almost the same as in European roulette, but with lower odds.

Despite the higher risks, American roulette is still very popular among modern fans of gambling. This can be explained by the fast pace of each round, large payouts in case of a win and various betting options.

French Roulette – The Player-Friendly Variant

Another popular game is French roulette, which also has its own special rules. The main feature is that the playing field is almost the same as in European roulette. At the same time, there are two unique rules that reduce the casino advantage and make the game more profitable for players. Among the main rules are the following:

- La Partage. If the ball stops on the zero cell, players lose half of their bet, which allows you to optimize costs.
- En Prison. In some versions, the bet is saved after a zero result and carried over to the next stage, which helps to optimize costs.

These rules reduce the casino advantage to 1.35%. As a result, such a game becomes a more popular option for players who have little experience and who do not want to take a lot of risks when playing on the casino NZ website. French roulette helps with strategic betting and has low volatility.

To summarize, roulette is an exciting entertainment in an online casino that offers a unique experience. A wide range of different variations of the classic game allows everyone to choose a solution according to their individual preferences and betting style. You can choose a risky approach or opt for safer bets.
