The Secret City, back in LA!

Cultural Daily · Wednesday, November 22nd, 2017

The Secret City, the joyous art-ritual-communal-theatrical-singing-dancing-event, returns to Los Angeles on Sunday, December 3 at the Bootleg Theater. In fitting concert with post-Thanksgiving opportunities, the theme will be Leftovers. Be there by 11:45 am to get a good seat. Information here: <https://www.facebook.com/events/1547463305338436/>

While in town, Chris Wells, The Secret City's prime storyteller, will tell a special story at a benefit on Saturday, December 9, in the DTLA Arts District. The benefit will also include a walking tour of street art and murals, led by Adam Leipzig, and an exclusive puppet performance by Paul Zaloom... not to mention food and drinks in a historic loft. Tickets are here: <https://www.artful.ly/store/events/13807>

Great art, and great artists need continuing support to sustain and increase their creativity. That's why The Secret City has launched a Patreon campaign, which will allow you to make a regular donation to support their work. You need The secret City more than another pair of Christmas socks, don't you? Support here: <https://www.patreon.com/theseecretcity>

[alert type=alert-white]Please consider making a tax-deductible donation now so we can keep publishing strong creative voices.[/alert]
