Summer Adventures

Rob Lang · Wednesday, June 21st, 2017

Summer is here! That means trips to the beach.

In order to adapt to dwindling global fish populations, animals like this pelican are using creative ways to find what they think is their natural prey.

Even if you can't get to the beach—get outside. Have an adventure. You never know what you'll find.

Can the human tell anybody what he saw? I guess it depends on what's in the bag!
