Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

The Indomitable Pancho Barnes

Julie Hébert · Wednesday, March 15th, 2017

Greetings Cultural Weekly community!

Want to know about an outrageous woman who broke all the rules, a gal with a sense of humor and a sense of self? Take a break with Pancho Barnes, a fearless woman who:

- escaped kidnappers by riding a horse across Mexico dressed as a man—
- repeatedly said 'No!" to authority, standing up for herself and others—
- beat Amelia Earhart's speed record— and much more.

[alert type=alert-white]Please consider making a tax-deductible donation now so we can keep publishing strong creative voices.[/alert]

My favorite quote from this interview:

> "If you want to ask for a raise, Pancho Barnes is your spirit animal."

Check out this week's video with writer/musician April Wolfe talking about a bold adventuress who'll capture your imagination and make you feel like kicking out the jams.

We're in the middle of our crowdfunding campaign and though we're doing well, we've hit a bit of a plateau– if you like our videos and would like to support the creation of more, we'd be most grateful if you donated this week!

And why not make your donation in the name of a woman who's made a difference in your life? We'll shout out your appreciation for her on social media. You'll feel great, we'll feel great, love all around.

xoxox

Julie

April Wolfe on the Indomitable Pancho Barnes.

This one will make you smile. Pass it on.

This entry was posted on Wednesday, March 15th, 2017 at 3:37 pm and is filed under TV, Discourse

You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments (RSS) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.