3. Explore Winter Adventures in Gatlinburg

Just a short drive from Pigeon Forge, Gatlinburg is a cozy mountain town that feels like it was plucked straight out of a holiday movie.

One of the best ways to experience Gatlinburg is on foot. Take a stroll through the Village Shops, a collection of boutique stores set in a quaint European-style village. Here, you can pick up unique holiday gifts or warm up with a cup of hot cocoa. For those seeking a breathtaking view of the Smokies, the Gatlinburg SkyPark is a must-visit. The SkyBridge, the longest pedestrian suspension bridge in North America, offers a spectacular view of snow-covered mountains—a sight you won't soon forget.

4. Take a Scenic Drive Through Cades Cove

If your family enjoys soaking in the natural beauty of winter, a scenic drive through Cades Cove is an absolute must. This picturesque valley becomes even more stunning during the colder months. Frost-covered meadows, snow-dusted trees, and peaceful mountain vistas create a serene atmosphere.

Cades Cove is also home to a variety of wildlife, including deer, wild turkeys, and even the occasional black bear. The 11-mile loop road allows you to explore the area at your own pace, making it ideal for families with young children. Pack a picnic, dress warmly, and enjoy the quiet beauty of nature together. Winter provides a unique opportunity to experience Cades Cove without the crowds, adding to the tranquil charm of this Smoky Mountain gem.

5. Go Snow Tubing at Ober Mountain

A cozy cabin serves as both a base for adventure and a place to unwind and reconnect with loved ones.
