
Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Gaga: When Limbs Have Tongues

Adam Leipzig · Thursday, July 25th, 2013

In this interview Ohad Naharin discusses the innovative and imaginative technique of Gaga, the modern movement language he developed as artistic director of the Batsheva Dance Company in Israel. Beautiful and unusual, his technique infuses the body with propulsive yet controlled momentum that seems to unfurl from the limbs and into the surrounding ether.

Interested in exploring Gaga? Check out Ate9 Dance Company's open studio on Fridays in downtown Los Angeles.

This entry was posted on Thursday, July 25th, 2013 at 2:24 am and is filed under Dance, Lifestyle. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.